The School of Exercise and Nutritional Sciences at San Diego State University is searching for a full-time (10-month) tenure-track faculty member in the area of food science. This position will be at the Assistant Professor rank and will begin August 2015. An earned academic doctorate (Ph.D. preferred) in food science or a closely related area is required. Research expertise in food composition analysis, sensory evaluation, or nutrition that is complementary to research interests of existing faculty is desirable, although not required. Teaching responsibilities may include undergraduate courses in food science and a graduate course in foods and nutrition. Previous teaching experience is desirable.

OTHER RESPONSIBILITIES: Engage in research leading to peer-reviewed publications and seek external funding to support and promote research. Mentor and supervise master’s student’s research projects. Engage in School, University, community, and professional service.

SALARY: Commensurate with experience.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: The School is in the College of Health and Human Services, one of seven colleges at San Diego State University. The School offers B.S. degrees in Kinesiology (with emphases in Pre-Physical Therapy and Fitness Specialist), Athletic Training, and Foods and Nutrition; an M.A. degree in Kinesiology (including a specialization in Rehabilitation Science); M.S. degrees in Exercise Physiology and Nutritional Sciences; and a Doctor in Physical Therapy degree. SDSU has an enrollment of over 31,000 students and is currently designated as a Doctoral / Research-Intensive University by the Carnegie Foundation. For additional information visit the School (www.ens.sdsu.edu) and University (www.sdsu.edu) websites. SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

APPLICATIONS: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Review of materials will begin on October 1, 2014 and applications will remain confidential until the candidate accepts an offer for an on-campus interview. Candidates should submit a letter of application addressing responsibilities and qualifications listed above, detailed curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation to: http://apply.interfolio.com/26460.

SDSU is a Title IX, equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate against persons on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity and expression, marital status, age, disability, pregnancy, medical condition, or covered veteran status. The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.